The University of Oregon’s fully customizable short-term spring program is ideal to get a taste of the Pacific Northwest, experiencing the traditional university life all while following a place-based learning curriculum using the latest technology to explore global topics related to:

- sustainability
- business communication NEW
- emergency preparedness
- science and other topics
- second language acquisition (3-week teacher training) NEW

Includes:
- dedicated faculty and staff, including 2 program directors on-site
- full integration with campus activities and academics
- welcoming homestay program run by the university
- two meals a day
- airport pick-up and drop-off
- public transportation pass
- service learning experience
- full integration with campus activities
- 1-2 excursions to explore Portland and Oregon nature

All levels of English are welcome. Place-based learning takes participants beyond the classroom to engage them in complex global issues as they relate to the local community of the language and culture they are studying – in this case, English and the United States. Our curriculum requires your students to use their growing English language skills and cultural knowledge to interact with people and places in our community. We take advantage of modern technologies and facilities to facilitate learning and enhance the exploration of the local community. This type of learning creates an engaging learning environment, increases motivation, encourages participants to use English outside of the classroom, and engages your student as a multilingual participant in everyday life.

Short-Term Program

Details

Winter/Spring 2019

February 20 - March 19

Each week is dedicated to a specific topic (module).

Costs:

- $4,500 USD* (4-week program)
- $2,250 USD* (2-week program)

*discounts available. Please email oepcontact@uoregon.edu for inquiries.

Student visa not required.

B-2 visa recommended if ESTA ineligible.

ENROLL NOW

isss.uoregon.edu/experience

CONTACT US: oepcontact@uoregon.edu