General information

General information (e.g. introduction about your university, location, etc.)
The University of Tuebingen was founded in 1477 by Count (later Duke) Eberhard im Bart. In 1534 Duke Ulrich I of Wuerttemberg brought the Reformation to Tuebingen, and two years later established a Protestant Theological Seminary, the Tuebinger Stift, as an academic bastion of the new faith in Southern Germany. This theological institution has been of particular importance in establishing the University's reputation, and has had a significant influence on the course of German intellectual history, particularly in the 18th and 19th centuries.

More recently, the medical and natural sciences centers moved up to the hills north of the city center. The University of Tuebingen consolidated its reputation as one of the outstanding universities in Europe.
For more information: please have a look at our brochure.

| Academic calendar | Classes in the summer and winter semester start on the Monday of April (summer semester) or October (winter semester) which is closest to the 15th of that month. Classes end on the Sunday 13 weeks after the term starts (summer semester) and 18 weeks after the term starts in the winter semester. Special ruling applies if Easter Monday is on April 12th or later.

Dates for Winter semester (11.10.10-05.02.11, no lectures 24.12.-07.01.)
Summer semester (11.04.11-23.07.11, no lectures 13.-18.06.11)

| Number of credits or units that undergraduate students need to complete in one semester/term | Two lectures and two seminars per semester are recommended. In addition, students can attend courses in the area of German as a second language.

| Language of instruction | German is the language of instruction. There are only few courses available in English; therefore, we require our partner institutions to nominate only those students who have enough language ability to follow courses in German.

| Are there any special language courses for exchange students? If yes, please advise on the schedule and costs of the courses. | Yes, more than 40 different courses per semester. We do not offer courses for beginners, though.
