Welcome to use the NTU online course information system, following are the steps and some tips for using this website:

2. If it appears in Chinese, please select the English version at the up right-hand side of this webpage.

3. Select “Courses taught in English”

- Be aware that the different way of counting years in Taiwan as the Republic of China was founded in 1912, therefore, the ROC year 98 = year 2009. And the first semester of one academic year in Taiwan starts in September every year.

5. Select “College” on the list to see what English courses are provided from this college.
6. You can see the detailed course information by pressing the “course name” and the contact method of the instructor under the “instructor” item. If you find the course information provided is not detailed enough, please feel free to contact the instructor.

7. You can use the “My plan-to-take courses list” by pressing “Add” in the last column. Then you can see the courses you are interested and also the course schedule on the list page. You can also enter this page by pressing “我預計要選的課程” at the left-hand side of the main webpage next time.
   - Be aware that you need the NTU student ID number as the account name to log in this function.
   - The courses you add to “My plan-to-take courses list” are just the courses you are interested in, not the courses you have registered. Therefore, please remember to register your courses via the “Course Selection” website during the online course selection period.
